The Haunted Jail
Character used: Lorax,
from The Lorax by Dr. Suess

A long time ago on a sunny day a small, mysterious, orange, fluffy, creature named the Lorax , or as other people call him “ L” decided he was unhappy living in the town of Who-Ville. Who-Ville is a town where the who’s live, who’s are creatures that are fluffy and different colors. He decided move to Council Bluffs, Iowa. While flying out to Council bluffs he was researching jobs, and homes, he found a job at a museum that used to be a jail. The jail was called The Squirrel Cage jail.

After two days of unpacking, he finally starts his first day at work. He is the security guard, and didn’t give tours, so he doesn’t know much about the building. But , something unusual is happening, he hears noises and whispering, like adults talking amongst themselves. After a few weeks of working at the jail he finds out the real story of the building. The story is that people would break off their hand when the cages turned and sometimes would die. They would also die after sentenced to life in jail, and would haunt the place because they hated it so much. After he finds out about the jail he wants to do an investigation to find out if he can “heal” the spirits. He will get locked up for twenty-four hours, and with nobody with him. The Lorax will only have a few tools with him, like a flashlight, a thermal camera, a recorder, and a video camera.

During the investigation he comes in contact with some spirits, these spirits were the inmates in the jail. These inmates do not like people coming into “ their ” jail. They were screaming at him when he would sleep in their cells, but he wouldn’t hear a thing. They would also talk to him while he was investigating the building. W hen he would be sleeping he would wake up to screams, because the inmates would basically cut off their hands when the cells would turn. He would communicate with them and they would yell and tell him “ GET OUT! ” they would also tell him “ WATCH OUT! ” or “ WATCH YOUR BACK ”

After the investigation, the Lorax made a statement that the jail was haunted. Then he said that the tourists should do night tours or lock-ins for people to get “ The full experience ” of being in a haunted jail. Another part of the full experience is that the visitors get to sleep in the jail cells and get locked in the cells. Then they finally started to do the night tours and lock-ins. People thought that the lock-ins were awesome! They all used love coming to sleep in a haunted jail.

As the years went on more and more people are coming to visit from all over the world. Even people from Who-Ville were coming to see the museum. Even the people that worked there during the day came for the lock-ins at night to have the full experience. Overall, working at the jail was the best job he ever had.
